

INTERNSHIP – EVENT & RANKINGS COORDINATOR

The 'Swatch TTR World Snowboard Tour,' or simply 'The TTR,' is without question the largest culmination of independent snowboard freestyle events acting under one common tour flag. We are offering 6 months internships for talented and motivated individuals in Innsbruck/Austria intended to provide you with a true learning and exciting team experience.

The work will involve all aspects of coordinating the relationship between the TTR and the events on the tour. In this position, you will work closely with both the Events Coordinator and the Rankings Manager. Your tasks will include regular communication with all events, updating the tour calendar, managing the event information on the TTR website and interfacing with internal departments regarding information needed from events. In addition, you will assist the TTR Rankings Manager with data maintenance tasks, verifying result information and updating the TTR World Rankings. It is a great way to see how an international sports organization works and understand the world of competitive snowboarding.

Candidates should have (basic) experience in event management or sports marketing including communication, preferably be studying for a degree in a related subject. Key skills we seek are:

- high fluency in English
- excellent communication and team working skills
- advanced skills in office software
- working knowledge of IT systems in general
- very good organizational skills
- reliable and accurate with attention to detail

In addition the following are desirable but not required:

- statistical and mathematical skills to do ranking predictions
- (basic) database management
- other languages

The internship starts latest in November and lasts during the whole winter season until the end of April. Although you will be working hard, some good powder runs on the mountains around Innsbruck and the attendance of a few TTR events on the tour are assured.

Please email your resume with a cover letter describing your interest in this position and related experience and why you would like to intern with us to alex@ttrworldtour.com